Dragon Stones

This is ancient mythical Chinese massage. For this type of therapy 53 smooth lava stones are used (thrown Out by the mountain from the dragon's cave), heated in the water and then placed on the body while still hot. At the same time individual parts of the body are massaged with hot oil and two largest stones, which are held in palms of the hands. For men, oil from essences of jasmine, sandalwood and lime is used; for women, oil from extracts of Moroccan rose and rosewood. The warmth penetrates deep into the whole body (back into the mountain) where it causes complete relaxation and charges the body with the strength of the dragon. We can provide various combinations of classical massage combined with massage with hot stones.
